DOVER POLICE OFFICER KILLED AT HIS HOME

Walter Sterling Shot Down By Son-In-Law, Edward Dame

Police Officer Walter Sterling of Dover was shot and instantly killed by his son-in-law, Edward Dame, at an early hour Sunday morning, at his home on Portland street in that city.

Dame immediately after the shooting sent word to the police and gave himself up, claiming that he did the shooting in self-defense.

Dame, who is a son of John Dame of Dover, married an adopted daughter of Officer Sterling, and they have lived together since the death of the officer's wife. Lately Officer Sterling announced that he was going to be married again and he wanted the house, and that Dame and his wife would have to find a new home. This they were doing, and it is said that the trouble arose over the charge that Sterling claimed that his son-in-law was taking away from the house furniture that belonged to him.

This created feeling between the two and resulted in the killing early Sunday morning.

According to Dame's story, which he told the police on their arrival at the house after he had sent for them, was that Sterling had come home from his work about five o'clock in the morning and he had come down stairs in his night clothes, and they met and had some argument over the furniture. Some harsh words were passed and Dame claims that Sterling hit him across the head with a broom. He then fired a shot into the partition to scare him, and then when he came at him shot him, and he dropped in his tracks. He sent out word to notify the police and then went upstairs and changed his clothing and was dressed when the police arrived.

Dame does not explain how he happened to have the revolver with him or why he came down stairs when he heard Sterling enter the house.

The shot that killed Officer Sterling struck him over the heart and took a downward course passing through the heart and death resulted instantly.

Dame was taken to the police station, and while willing to talk at first he did not make plain some of the facts of the case to the officer, and shortly after he secured counsel and immediately was ordered to stop talking, which he did.

Officer Sterling was one of the best known officers in Dover. He had been on the force there for eighteen years and in that time had gained a fine reputation and was a good officer.

Dame also is a young man of good reputation.

PLANS FOR UNVEILING OF FARRAGUT TABLET

Memorial of the Last Days of American's First Admiral

Admiral Dewey to Unveil Tablet on the Navy Yard Commandant's House

Where Admiral Farragut Died While a Guest of the Late Rear Admiral Pennock

The unveiling of the tablet in memory of the late Admiral Farragut takes place at the navy yard on Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock. Today a Herald man interviewed Capt. E. K. Moore, commandant of the yard and station, and learned the following in regard to the event.

The unveiling of the tablet to the memory of our greatest naval hero, Admiral David Glasgow Farragut, the first admiral in the United States navy, is an official affair, orders having been received by the commandant to install the tablet and arrange the ceremonies therefor.

The following is the program of the exercises:

Prayer, Chaplain Frank Thompson, United States Navy.

Unveiling, Admiral George Dewey, U. S. N.

National Anthem, Admiral Salute.

Address, Hon. Frank W. Hackett, Ex. Assistant Secretary of the Navy.

Music, Navy Yard Band.

Rear Admiral J. Crittenden Watson, U. S. N., retired, who served through the Civil War with the admiral from the hoisting of his flag on the historic Hartford, in January, 1862, and subsequently in European squadron, was expected to be present and close the ceremonies with his recollections of the great admiral, but ill health compelled him to decline and he has sent a letter, which will be read.

The tablet has been secured on the front of the house to the left of the entrance door and will be covered with the admiral's flag, the one which he flew on his last sea voyage, viz. on the Tallapoosa, which brought him to this yard in June, 1870, and will be drawn aside by Admiral George Dewey, the hero of Manila Bay, the third and the only living admiral of the United States navy.

All work will stop on the yard at ten minutes before the ceremonies, and all the employees of the yard have been invited to attend.

All officers and enlisted men attached to or connected with the yard and station have been ordered to attend in full dress uniform, and their families are invited.

The space and accommodations being limited the invitations had to be correspondingly so, but it was the endeavor to invite all of the late admiral's relations and family connections, all of those who had been associated with him in the service, all navy and army officers and their families, and families and descendants of naval officers in this vicinity. Also the Loyal Legion and Grand Army and a few representatives of the older residents of Portsmouth and Kittery.

The commandant regrets that he cannot make the invitations more general but the want of accommodations has compelled him to leave personal and social feelings out of it entirely.

YORK BRIDGE

The Latest Legal Phase of This Legal Controversy

George F. Haley of Biddeford, counsel for the selection of York, has raised the point that the York bridge question before the county commissioners is res adjudicata and consequently cannot be further considered.

This petition is the second one filed with the county commissioners to open the bridge as a highway. The first petition upon which a hearing was held some weeks ago by the commissioners was denied for lack of evidence to substantiate the allegations contained in it.

The second petition, which is now before the board for consideration is, according to Lawyer Haley's contention, identical with the first one, covering the same period of time as the allegations in the first. In consequence the attorney has asked for the dismissal of the petition on the ground that the point raised for the determination in it is exactly the same as that that was passed upon by the commissioners when they denied the first petition for lack of evidence. Having once had their day in court and having been unable to prove their claim that the bridge should be opened as a highway, Lawyer Haley argued that the principle of res adjudicata applied and the petition could not again be called on to answer the same allegations.

He has accordingly filed a motion with the county commissioners for the dismissal of the case.

FUNERAL OF MR. DUMPEY

The funeral of Timothy Dumpey was held at 1.15 p. m. Sunday at the Church of the Immaculate Conception. The services were conducted by Rev. Fr. Edward J. Walsh.

The interment was at Calvary cemetery under the direction of W. P. McKell. The bearers were Daniel Sullivan, John Morgan, Cornelius Reagan and John Reagan.

CHURCHILL AND REMICK

NEWINGTON MAN A SUICIDE

Nathaniel Coleman, Tired Of Life, Uses A Shot Gun With Fatal Effect

Nathaniel Coleman a son of Mr. and Mrs. Valentine Coleman of Newington, committed suicide on Sunday morning by shooting himself with a shot gun.

Coleman lived with his parents in Newington and shortly before daylight he was heard to go down stairs from his room. A few minutes before five o'clock his mother heard the gun. Mr. Coleman immediately went down stairs and out into the yard, and then heard groans coming from the corn crib. He looked in and saw his son lying face downward in a pool of blood. The son had used a shot gun and was unconscious. He had evidently placed the butt of the gun in a corner and the muzzle in the middle of his forehead and then bent over and pulled the trigger. The full charge of the shell took effect and tore a big hole through his brain and he died in a few minutes.

Dr. W. O. Jenkins and Medical Referee A. J. McLean were called but he was dead long before they arrived and after hearing the story of the parents and viewing the body Medical Referee Lance turned the body over to the Undertaker.

The shot gun was found standing up in the corner of the building, and it is supposed that the recoil threw it back into an upright position.

Coleman apparently had no reason for his rash act. He worked with his father and was busy all of Saturday about the farm and went to bed apparently in his usual frame of mind.

His age was thirty-one years, seven months and five days.

AT THE NAVY YARD

Condition of Cornelius Driscoll, apprentice boilermaker in steam engineering, who was injured in the left eye a few days ago by a flying fragment of a hot rivet, is much improved and he will not lose the sight of the eye as it was feared at first.

Since the arrival of the machines from Panama more prisoners have been put to work about the yard.

The water front is beginning to look bare once more since the departure of the different ships.

An alarm from box 53 this forenoon called the fire department out for a trial. The apparatus was found in good shape and everybody connected with the brigade made good time.

The last detachment of thirty-eight marines which arrived on Saturday from Panama are the same men who left this yard three months ago.

There was a sale of 129 iron books at the marine barracks this afternoon.

Lieut. Higley, U. S. M. C., at the naval prison has been granted a furlough.

George W. Field, one of the marine guard of the U. S. S. Southery, is enjoying a furlough at his home in Berwick.

Mrs. Ring, wife of Pay Director James A. Ring, is visiting in East Gloucester.

Charles F. Drake, leadpinner plumb in construction and repair department, has been promoted to quartermaster with an advance in salary from $3.31 to $4.40 per diem.

CADILLACS WIN ECONOMY TEST

It was a great day for the Cadillac in Haverhill, Pa., recently, when two cars of this make won first honors, each in its respective class, in the economy test. The test was run over the city streets, each entrant was supplied with one gallon of gasoline, the object being to run the greatest number of miles possible on that quantity of fuel.

In class 1, the Single Cylinder Cadillac Runabout succeeded in covering 38 1/2 miles on the one gallon of gasoline.

In class 7, consisting of four cylinder cars listing at $2000 and over, the Cadillac of that type earned first honors by covering 27 1/2 miles on a single gallon.

The record of the Single Cylinder car is especially interesting from the fact that it was one of the first Cadillacs built - a 1903 Model "A". It not only won first place in its class, but made the best showing of the day against more than twenty competitors.

MARRIED AT YORK HARBOR

Mr. John Calwalader Jr. and Mrs. Margaret Nicoll Dudley, prominent Philadelphia Society People

There was a quiet wedding at the St. George Episcopal church at York Harbor on Saturday noon when Mr. John Calwalader Jr. and Mrs. Margaret Nicoll Dudley both prominent in Philadelphia society were married by Rev. H. F. Klemm of Portland. The ceremony was somewhat of a surprise to the intimate friends of the contracting parties, for while it was known that they were to be married in the fall the ceremony on Saturday was decided on hastily.

The bride is one of the most charming widows of the Quaker city and her husband a prominent lawyer and a member of the board of registration in that city. He has been here all the season and has been seriously ill at the home of his parents who are old summer residents here. Of late he has been greatly improved and when Mrs. Dudley came on during the past week it was decided that they would be married as soon as possible and with as little display as possible. The result was the wedding on Saturday noon.

WHITNEY AGAIN

Man Held in Portland Not the Escaped Whitney

Sheriff M. M. Collis received word on Sunday afternoon that the Portland police had a man who they suspected was Whitney. He did not answer every description with the exception that he had the tip of a forefinger cut off and Whitney had all of his.

Saturday a report was received from Elliot that two men were seen in that direction but an investigation failed to find either Whitney or Burns.

Since the escape from the jail

Sheriff Collis has arranged for a deputy to be at the jail at all times in addition to a turnkey so that there can be no repetition of the affair of a week ago Saturday. Turnkey Rowe should never have entered the room with his keys on him, but should have been let into the corridor by a "turnkey". If there was nobody else around and locked in so that overhauling him would not have resulted in any escape.

BASE BALL AT YORK BEACH

The first of a series of baseball games between York Harbor and Beach teams will be played at the beach on Tuesday afternoon. There is considerable feeling between the two teams and each have a gang of red hot supporters and the result will be the best baseball that has been seen at the beach this year. The Harbor team have secured Adams, Luck and McIntyre of Somers worth and one or two other good players. They have good backing and the result of the series of nine games which will be played on the beach ground will change the ownership of considerable money.

The Beach has the best team I ever had and are confident of winning more than their share of the games.

THE PORTSMOUTH TREATY

Some Inside Facts Of The Famous Conference In This City

St. Petersburg, Aug. 23.—Prof. Maxim Kovalevsky, one of Russia's internationalists, an authority on international law and a member of the council of the Russian Empire, has written an important article on the Portsmouth Peace treaty. The facts brought out by Prof. Kovalevsky at law are only the great skill employed by the Russian statesman, the plenipotentiary of a defeated country, Sergius Witte, in dealing with the representatives of the Allies and with the public opinion in America, but the document throw also a new light on the role played by President Roosevelt in forcing both sides into signing the peace treaty at Portsmouth.

In his introductory chapter Prof. Kovalevsky says that while some people in defining the significance of the part played by the Portsmouth treaty in the development of Russia recall one of the most tragic moments in the life of new Russia, others, perhaps more truly, compare it with the Vastogal, whose fall served as the starting point of an era of reforms as important at the time as the creation of the Russian republic.

As for himself, he says that he is ready to confess the hope that Portsmouth is not only the beginning of Russia's internal regeneration, but that with it also ends the heroic and adventurous period of Russia's external policies. Russia fought valiantly both in the west and in the east, now seeking to protect its natural boundaries, now eager to make various nationalities of the Slav race, now seeking simply to occupy territory supposedly belonging to nobody, and which was so poorly governed that the left shore of the Amur at the time it was taken by Maratoff.

The final word about the Portsmouth treaty will not yet be told, declares Prof. Kovalevsky. "But this finally believes us of the necessity to balance our accounts from time to time, a new life is necessary, thus permitting us to examine critically the views established in society. This article is one of such attempts to raise at least halfway the curtain obscuring from our view the hidden sources of the events which led to the Portsmouth treaty. Much in this article is but half told, and some things are left unexplained. The author is not at liberty to discuss the nearest source of his information. He takes, however, upon himself the moral responsibility for the authority of the documents, admitting at the same time their incompleteness.

A correspondent has secured copies of the two messages sent by President Roosevelt to Ambassador Meyer to be transmitted to the czar, which show letters than everything else the methods of President Roosevelt as a peacemaker. He also secured a copy of the letter sent by President Roosevelt to the czar concerning the passport question for the American citizens of Jewish faith desiring to enter Russia.

The article goes on to describe the work of President Roosevelt in impressing on the minds of both Russia and Japan that they must give way, with the great result of the final signing of the treaty.

There were a great many automobile parties passing through this city on Sunday. This great crowd of automobiles has made a big increase in the revenues of the Portsmouth bridge.

CHARGED WITH $173,000 THEFT.

Ex-Teller of United States Sub-Treasury Arrested.

EGG DEAL GAVE THE CLUE.

Suspicion at First Rested Upon the Accused Man, but Was Warded Off by His Plausible Stories—Scent Became Hot When He Tried to Get Rid of $1000 Bills at a Discount—Others Said to Be Involved.

Chicago, Aug. 24.—The mystery of the theft of $173,000 from the United States sub-treasury a year and a half ago, one of the largest losses the government has ever suffered in this manner, is believed to have been solved by the arrest of George W. Fitzgerald. Others are believed to have been implicated in the crime which for months completely baffled government secret service men.

Fitzgerald was an assenting teller under Assistant United States Treasurer Bollenbrook. Suspicion at the time of the theft, Feb. 20, 1907, rested on him, but so plausible was his story and so intense his apparent interest in discovering the real culprit that interest ceased to center in him. Much work was done on the theory that the crime had been perpetrated by a negro.

Meanwhile Fitzgerald was discharged from the government employ for culpable negligence in allowing such a theft to be consummated under his very eyes. The money stolen had been used and was tied in packages, some having been marked for destruction at Washington. Any of the bills would readily have passed anywhere except for their large denominations. None of the bills was under $500 and some were of the $1000 and $5000 denominations, the $1000 ones predominating.

The theft created a sensation and congress at the last session was asked and refused to release Bollenbrook from liability, although it was proved that congress would again consider the matter. Meanwhile Herbert J. Young, head of the Young secret service agency, became interested in the case, at first without official connection with the case, but later as the agent of Bollenbrook.

Young's attention was redirected to Fitzgerald. The latter, upon his discharge from the sub-treasury, stated that his whole fortune consisted of $500 in cash and a stock certificate for $1000. His wife had a $500 interest in the estate of her mother, which was valued at about $1000 and was in litigation.

Fitzgerald, however, according to Young, embarked in speculation on a scale not consistent with the size of his reported means. Fitzgerald bought eggs for speculation and stored them. In July, 1907, he inaugurated an egg deal which ultimately, it is said, involved an expenditure of $5000, and the following March a shulder deal involved him, according to Young, to the extent of $15,000. Incidentally the former teller had become the possessor, by his wife's name, of a neat brick residence in Rogers Park, a suburb of Chicago, valued at $8500. Young declares that this purchase was made in a roundabout way, passing through several hands and finally into those of Mrs. Fitzgerald for a consideration of $1.

Last July the secret is said to have been told when Superintendent Gano of A. Booth & Co., a business man of prominence, reported to Bollenbrook. It is said that Fitzgerald had approached him with a proposition to pass several $1000 bills. "With your big business connections," Fitzgerald is alleged to have argued to Gano, "you can easily pass them." There's $500 in it for you.

After conferring with Bollenbrook, Gano continued negotiations with Fitzgerald with the result that by arrangement several witnesses were secretly present when the former teller, it is said, passed two $1000 bills to Gano. So far as known Fitzgerald was not seen to pass any of the large bills.

From the moment of Gano's first interview with the assistant United States treasurer, it is said, Young or some of his men shadowed Fitzgerald. The trail, it is intimated broadly, involved others not only in helping Fitzgerald to dispose of the money alleged to have been stolen, but in the very act of his having extended it from the treasury vaults and later covering of tracks. It had not been intended to arrest Fitzgerald at this time, as far as the evidence was not only wanted against him, but developments were expected which would conclusively involve others. However, it is stated that those under suspicion had obtained an inkling that untoward developments were going forward and it was deemed best to waste no time in securing the man charged with being the principal.

BETRAYED BY HIS OWN TRIBESMEN.

Mulai Hafid Routs Brother and Becomes Morocco's Sultan.

Tangier, Aug. 24.—The defeat of Sultan Abdel-Aziz by the forces of his brother, Mulai Hafid, has been confirmed. The sultan of revolt was surprised on the night of Aug. 19 and most of his troops deserted to the side of the usurper Sultan after the firing of a few shots. The defeat of Abdel-Aziz was due largely to the betrayal of his own tribesmen.

Mulai Hafid has been proclaimed Sultan of Morocco at Tangier and announcement of the proclamation has been telegraphed to all parts of the country. All the officials who previously have been under the rule of Abdel-Aziz in this city declare that they have accepted Mulai Hafid as their leader, thereby making him supreme in all the large cities of Morocco.

Details of the battle show that Abdel-Aziz had an army numerically the superior of the enemy, but that his army either failed to work or was deliberately tampered with. Some of the guns exploded, throwing the tribesmen into a panic. The vast majority of these seized the opportunity to flee during the engagement and general pillage broke out; many of the tribes seeking to carry off as much booty as possible.

Abdel-Aziz and his escort retreated in an orderly manner to Zetia, his army, scattered in all directions, being pursued by the victorious troops of Mulai Hafid. It is said that the former sultan will proceed to Casablanca, and that he intends to go to Damascus.

MORMONS HELD UP.

Boston, Aug. 24.—Because of recent orders received from Washington, immigration officers detained fifty-four women converts who arrived on the steamship Republic. They came from Germany, Holland and Scandinavia. There were 108 converts in the party. Batherio the Mormon converts have landed at Boston without much trouble. Among the questions asked by the authorities were: "Who paid for your passage over here?" "Do you believe in polygamy?" "Did you come willingly?"

ROBBED HOTEL GUEST.

Asbury Park, N. J., Aug. 24.—After having been on the grill for three days, being constantly questioned, Harry Pondson, a bell boy of the Alhambra hotel, aged 24, confessed that he stole about $7500 worth of diamonds from the room of Mrs. Mary H. Fox, a guest at the hotel. Pondson took detectives to a spot near Sunset Lake where he had buried the diamonds. Every piece of jewelry was recovered. Pondson is held to await the action of the grand jury.

GRIEVED FOR LOST LOVE.

Paris, Aug. 24.—Miss Wilfred Parsons, daughter of the late Charles Parsons of New York, was found dead with a bullet wound in her head in her apartment in the Avenue Lena. The police say that the case is one of suicide, while friends of the dead girl declare that the shooting was an accident. Miss Parsons had been suffering from melancholia since the death of her fiancé, a young Frenchman, who died four months ago from consumption.

POLITICS IN NEW ENGLAND.

Hitchcock to Confer With Leaders in the District.

TO GO OVER SITUATION.

Political Outlook in Vermont and Maine Likely to Form Main Topic of Discussion—Former State the First to Hold Its Election This Year—Matter of Campaign Funds Will Also Come Up For Consideration.

Boston, Aug. 24.—Republican political activity in New England will enter in this city during the next few days, when Chairman Hitchcock of the Republican national committee will confer with the party leaders of the six New England states in regard to the aspects of the presidential campaign, and especially in reference to the coming elections in Vermont and Maine.

Mr. Hitchcock will arrive in Boston today from Dalton, accompanied by Senator Crane, whose guest he has been at the senator's home in the Berkshire hills.

This gathering in Boston is part of the general plan of campaign by which Hitchcock expects to place himself in touch with the party workers in all sections. He has already seen those of the west and the middle west. It is also to be inferred that beyond learning how things political are drifting in New England, there will be questions asked as to what can be done in the way of helping the campaign financially.

It has been announced that the plan this year, more than ever before, is to get the state committees to do their work in unison with the chairman of the national committee and his executive body, upon which the burden of the national campaign is always placed.

It is expected, however, that the pre-election situation in Vermont and Maine will form the main topic of discussion. The Vermont election will be held on Sept. 1, and while the campaign has been a quiet one and has developed less bitterness than for several years, national issues have been brought forward. The Democrats have been very frank in commending the administrations of President Roosevelt and Governor Preger, but have claimed that the new candidates are not likely to live up to their campaign promises. The Republicans have based their campaign on state issues, principally road funds.

In Maine the campaign has hardly begun, but there is every indication of a warm contest, especially in the Second congressional district, where Representative Littlefield is retiring and where two years ago the labor leaders made a strong effort to elect the Democratic candidate.

The leaders from the two states are fully conversant with the respective situations and it is expected that Hitchcock will pursue his investigations as being on the country as a whole. Hitchcock's present visit will probably be his only one in this section during the campaign.

SKIRMISH FIRE HAS BEGUN.

Bryan Realizes Task Ahead of Him; and What It Means.

Chicago, Aug. 24.—Now that William J. Bryan has set his seal of approval upon the plans made by the Democratic national committee to bring about his election, the Democratic campaign will be said to be in that period of transition in which practical organization is completed and the skirmish line of the battle has begun. There will be a meeting of the national committee and sub-committees with Bryan on Sept. 8 to consider whether the line of action taken is proving effective.

Politics was eschewed at headquarters Sunday, but to the national committee and friends who spoke to him of the hard struggle that Chairman Mack and the campaign managers had outlined Bryan replied:

"I realize the task ahead of me and what it means. I am not minimizing the demands that I know will be made upon me, but I feel that I can do what is expected of me, for my health is fine and I never entered a fight with more hope of victory. It is the people's right and to battle for them gives added courage and strength in the trying hours of a campaign."

This week will find Bryan making several speeches in the middle west, where Mack has decided to make the main fight of the campaign. New York is to be invaded, and in all probability New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland and West Virginia, and in these states as well as in Indiana, Ohio, Illinois and Iowa, the Democratic candidate will make his principal struggle for victory.

MAY LOSE STATES BY DEFAULT.

Principal Danger Confronting Republicans, According to Meyer. Hot Springs, Va., Aug. 24.—Postmaster General Meyer, who is here conferring with W. J. Taft, expressed himself in an interview on the general political situation and on the Democratic proposition of guaranteeing national bank deposits, declaring the latter to be "one step farther toward socialism."

Mr. Meyer believes the greatest danger the party confronts in the east is the prevailing sentiment that the election of the Republican ticket is a foregone conclusion. In this connection he remarked that it might be the best thing for the party if the usual majority in Vermont should be materially reduced. This would, he said, in view of the September election in that state, arouse the Republicans to a realization that a campaign was on.

"There are," he said, "thousands of voters in every state who do not get out to the polls unless they feel there is a real necessity for them to vote. Therefore, if interest is not sufficiently aroused and the importance of this coming election fully appreciated, several states may be lost by default."

Mr. Bryan has been endeavoring to give the impression that the president has stolen some of his policies. The Democratic candidate, however, is identified with free silver, the dishonest dollar, a policy of repudiation of national and private debts and obligations, anti-imperialism and government ownership. Mr. Roosevelt has never been a free silver man, has always been in the honest dollar. No one would ever accuse him of anti-imperialism, and he has been most emphatically against government ownership, but has extended for government supervision, wherever necessary.

"The progressive reforms and practical policies which Mr. Roosevelt and the Republican party have put in force would be gladly claimed by Mr. Bryan as his own."

SHOULD BE CABINET OFFICER.

Candidate Kern Writes His Conception of the Vice Presidency.

New York, Aug. 24.—Editor's Weekly will print in its forthcoming issue an article by John W. Kern bearing the title "My Conception of the Vice Presidency." Mr. Kern endorses William J. Bryan's declaration in favor of making the vice president a member of the cabinet and says:

"The presidents in the past have influenced legislation largely, but usually by indirection. My own conception of the duties of any public official is that the influence he exerts should be direct, open, obvious and known to all men. If the vice president is to be simply the presiding officer of the senate, with, of course, the opportunity to invite senators into his room and suggest to them the views he may have upon pending legislation, he becomes very close to a mere lobbyist."

"If by the friendship or by the political conditions of the president he is put in a position in which he is to come out into the open, speak as frankly as his chief speaks, and exercise upon legislation openly and avowedly as much influence as any member of the cabinet may, his office is raised to a dignity which was the original understanding of the constitution that it should possess."

A $1000 NECKLACE STOLEN BY BOYS.

Almost a Riot in Gypsy Camp Follows Discovery.

Boston, Aug. 24.—While a wedding was in progress at a big gypsy camp on Centre street, Jamaica Plain, last night, which was attended by about 2000 gypsies, two boys entered a tent occupied by one of the gypsy women and stole a necklace worth $1000. It was made of six $200 gold pieces and 200 Brazilian $5 gold pieces. Three watches and a chain were also taken. The jewelry was the property of Bertha Stanger.

When the police were discovered almost a riot started in the camp and the boys were leaving the tent in a hurry to escape. A number of police officers were rushed to the scene and had great difficulty in restoring order among the wedding spectators and the occupants of the camp.

The gypsy camp has been ordered to move from its quarters by the board of health and the time is up today. The chief of the tribe declares that he cannot get away today. The board of health is determined to enforce its order and may have to call upon the police.

BOYS PERHAPS TO BLAME.

Athens, Aug. 24.—A passenger train was wrecked near Syracuse, New York, Sunday. A number of passengers were injured. The train was carrying a large number of passengers and was traveling at a high speed when it derailed. The cause of the accident is being investigated.

DUTCHMEN NOT WORRYING.

The Hague, Aug. 24.—The distant Venezuela war cloud does not bother the placidity of the Dutch capital. In the first. There is no enthusiasm over the prospect of publishing President Castro for the insult suffered by the Dutch minister. The public appears content to let the government take whatever measures it considers proper and necessary.

WOMAN EQUAL TO MAN.

London, Aug. 24.—On the eve of his departure on a tour abroad, General William Booth has issued a long manifesto, prominently placed for the equality of women with men and exhorting every member of his army to endorse this view and treat his children to this end.

DRAWS DARK PICTURE OF RULE OF RUIN IN VENEZUELA.

Writer of Note Describes Results of Castro's Rapacious Regime—Foreign and Home Industry Destroyed and People Starving.

Over the signature of Stephen Bonsai, who writes from first hand knowledge of affairs in Venezuela, the New York Times prints an article on "El primo Castro, Cattle Bandit of the Andes." Mr. Bonsai says:

It is undoubtedly a mistake to characterize Castro as a South American type. He is fortunately an exceptional man in any continent.

For many years now Castro has had no relations with the respectable classes among his fellow countrymen, except those which the jailer has with those whom he robs. One after another the European and the South American powers have at the instance of self respect been compelled to sever all relations with the "bad man" of Caracas. The representatives of Colombia, Chile, the United States and France recently withdrew, and now even the stolid, long suffering Dutch minister has gone, until today the diplomatic officers remaining in Caracas can easily be transported in a four seated barouche.

Looks Out For Own Profit.

From the day when Castro entered the astonished capital with the (in view of his acts) almost sacrilegious words, "God and the Federation," emblazoned upon his yellow banners he has ruled the country according to the dictates of his personal caprice and for the greatest profit to himself and his Andean comrades.

Several of the half hearted defenders of the Castro regime, and a few such there are, say that all the friction which has resulted in the almost complete ostracism of Castro by the civilized world has arisen over the claims of foreign concession holders. After all, it is asserted, these men invested their money in the country with full knowledge of the conditions obtaining there, and several of them in advance committed themselves to the position of promising to seek redress for their wrongs, real or fancied, except at the hands of the Venezuelan courts.

Courts Are Castro's Creatures.

This view of reasoning sounds well, but it is not in accord with the facts. When the American concessions which have now been confiscated or are disputed were made there were courts in Caracas which commanded confidence, and Castro has abolished them or changed their personnel without observing the due processes of the law in so doing.

The other charge which the partisans of Castro bring has much more foundation in fact. The accusation is that during the Matos rebellion all the foreign dignitaries added the Matos forces with men, money, arms and information. These charges have never been proved by evidence that would stand scrutiny, but here at least there is some basis in fact. In three years Castro had banished and indeed in many instances, as in the asphalt concession, absolutely ruined every enterprise in the land conducted by foreigners.

Mates Failed to Save Country.

Then Matos, an honest man of good intentions and with the best blood in the country flowing through his veins, made his bid for the presidency in the revolutionary way, the only way, owing to the utter defiance of the electoral laws by the usurping cattle thief, that was open to him. Matos failed because he was not a man of war, and during the last four years Castro has devoted himself to the Indian punishment of those whom he suspects, undoubtedly with some reason, of having aided his rival.

As a result the commerce of the country has dwindled to nothing; the husbandry crops are not harvested because there is no money in the land; people are starving in what was formerly the land of plenty; only the black death travels from deserted port to grass grown Caracas, blotting the last touch to a gloomy picture.

POINTS OUT DANGER IN USE OF "STERILIZED" COTTON.

Investigator Finds Microbes in Material Used For Surgical Purposes.

Startling results are announced of an examination made by the distinguished French scientist, M. Nocard, of a large number of commercial brands of "sterile" and "sterilized" cotton. Cultures were made from thirty packages of cotton purchased at random, and in every instance flourishing colonies of microbes were obtained. Two of the packages yielded typhoid bacilli.

In the preparation of cotton for surgical purposes the raw product is carefully washed in soda, bleached with hypochlorite and finally washed in distilled sulphuric acid. After each of these operations the cotton is washed in plain water, and during these washings are introduced the microbes discovered by M. Nocard.

Partly as a result of this investigation physicians are turning to the use of the disinfectant then called "sterilized" cotton. This is not only free from the microbes, but also more cooling and more absorbent. Physicians and hospitals are now turning "sterilized" by the ton from the North Rockfield Mills where it is manufactured.

The Scientific American in comment on M. Nocard's investigation says: "These results prove that it is unsafe to apply commercial sterilized cotton to wounds or in surgery, especially in hot and humid climates, where the skin is so liable to infection."

SERVICES WELL ATTENDED.

How the Men of Battleship Fleet Observed Sunday at Sydney.

Sydney, N. S. W., Aug. 24.—Four thousand men of the American fleet were permitted ashore Sunday and 1200 of those attended high mass in the cathedral. Special music had been arranged in honor of the Americans. Great crowds lined the streets and took quite as much interest in the passing sailormen as on the first day of their arrival.

A banquet was given last night in the town hall by the Catholics to 1200 men and officers of the fleet, at which Cardinal Moran, archbishop of Sydney, presided. Toasts were drunk to the king, the president and "our guests." Chaplain Gleason of the battleship Connecticut, in responding, said that Sydney's reception surpassed any that the fleet had received, even at home. The magnificent hospitality of the Australians, he declared, would make an abiding impression in the hearts of eighty millions of Americans, who were truly blessed. America knew no religious problems, whether English, Scotch, Irish or any other.

Among the most cherished memories of the visit that the Americans will carry away will be a fine kangaroo which Cardinal Moran will present to the flagship Connecticut.

Rear Admiral Sperry and a large number of officers and men of the visiting fleet attended the Anglican cathedral. The Baptists and Congregationalists united in service, which also was largely attended. Chaplain Stevenson of the Illinois officiated at a Methodist service of the American and British blacksmiths, while the Presbyterians worshipped in the town hall.

KIDNAPPED FROM HOME IN RUSSIA.

Girl Claims That She Was Terribly Abused by Gypsies.

Boston, Aug. 24.—Weak and emaciated by months of abuse, Irene Parsky, a Russian girl, 16 years old, who was found in a fainting condition in a doorway in Court street, told the police that she was kidnapped from the estate of her father, a nobleman, in southern Russia, five months ago, and that since then she has been in the hands of gypsies and suffered all sorts of indignities.

The girl said that she was taken away by a gypsy band to avenge the death of her father in dividing them off the estate because of their depredations, and that she was kept imprisoned in a wagon until the coast was reached, when she was put aboard a sailing vessel, and later, with her captors, boarded a steamer which brought her to America.

Recently, she says, she has been confined in a gypsy camp in the outskirts of Boston, but managed to make her escape and wandered about until she dropped from exhaustion.

A LABOR DEFENSE FUND.

New York, Aug. 24.—At a meeting of the Central Federated union, the recommendation of President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor that the labor bodies of the country make contributions to aid "in supporting the friends and defeating the enemies of labor" was endorsed after an animated debate. This action will permit several hundred unions in this city to vote such sums as they think advisable for the purpose. Gompers himself was present at the meeting and addressed the gathering.

MAINE POSTOFFICE ROBBED.

Machias, Me., Aug. 24.—The postoffice at Machiaspost was broken into and the safe blown early Sunday. $2000 worth of stamps and $80 in cash being taken, while a pocketbook containing $100 which was in the safe was overlooked by the burglars. The interior of the office was badly wrecked and every pane of glass in the structure was broken. The stamps were found later half a mile from the postoffice on the road leading to Machias.

SUMMER HOTEL BURNED.

New York, Aug. 24.—The which destroyed the Holmes cottage, a summer hotel at Edenac, N. Y., lost of the 100 or more guests to make a hurried departure. Many of them had retired and had to leave in scant attire, some without their valuables and most of them without any of their effects. The cottage was completely destroyed at a loss of $200,000, exclusive of the guests' belongings.

BALLOONIST GOT "RAUTLED."

Tolook, Aug. 24.—Chasing a deer today to a trap line, Miss May Plummer was lost in the clouds for three hours. The girl made her first balloon ascension at a picnic near here and was to have made a portable drop. She lost her nerve when the balloon had reached the proper altitude for the drop, and was carried several miles east of the city, where she landed exhausted in a field.

FORTY PERSONS DROWNED.

REMICH REBUKED

The state press is giving D. C. Remich's attack really more attention than he deserves.

But there is merit in the answer made by the Exeter News Letter.

"The News-Letter has no desire to be put upon Mr. Remich's honor roll, but if it is of interest to that gentleman we will say that not in the twenty years that he News-Letter has been under its present management has its editor or any of its employees held or used a free pass from the Boston and Maine railroad, nor has anyone connected with this paper used or been offered transportation in exchange for advertising or for any other service. To this we will add that during the entire period named neither the Boston and Maine railroad nor any person acting for it has ever asked the News-Letter for a political service or any other favor. We say this in justice to the railroad; in justice to ourselves we will also say that, never having asked for them, the News-Letter has not been refused any of these things. We trust that our high-minded critic of the press can at least say as much of himself.

"The News-Letter hopes, further, more, to escape Mr. Remich's arraignment of being subsidized by a large amount of advertising at liberal rates, when we tell him in confidence that under our contract with the passenger department of the Boston and Maine our monthly bill is $125, or $15 a year, which a few excursion advertisements might swell to possibly $20 the rate being exactly that paid by all other advertisers. We feel sure that Mr. Remich could not be subsidized for twenty dollars.

"Just here we will digress far enough to say that we have in hand at this moment two lengthy political articles received from different sources, the single insertion of which would not us more than our entire receipts from the Boston and Maine in a year. If we had received such political communications from the Boston and Maine and accepted them for a price, we have a feeling that we should have fully deserved the strictures of Mr. Remich.

"The News-Letter is also happy to say that it stands with the state press in not commenting on the injunction proceedings begun against the Boston and Maine railroad for its alleged subsidies. The railroad, we had supposed, was entitled to the same treatment that we should have extended to Mr. Remich under like circumstances. But the people of New Hampshire have the fullest faith in our courts, and they also know that in Attorney General

Eastman they have a fearless prosecutor, who does not try his cases in the newspapers. We feel that exact justice will be administered, if the informant presses his charge and presents competent evidence. When a decision is given will be the time for comment and praise.

"The News-Letter is not so fully acquainted with the men and things of the state as some others, but it sincerely hopes that it has been misinformed about the sincerity of our most notorious reformers and the depth of Mr. Daniel W. Remich's ploy."

The Rochester Record gives a similar statement in response to the Remich questions and then impacts this piece of the editorial mind:

"We think that we have now answered all Mr. Remich's questions. In turn we should like to ask Mr. Remich a few questions. Who is Mr. Remich anyway? What exalted position does he hold that he says in his letter 'I am thankful for small things?' What is this 'Roll of Honor' where he benignly assures us we shall be enrolled? Is this whole letter in fact an exhibition of arrogance, or merely a genuine condescension on his part? If the latter we are truly honored and humbly grateful. If the former, we are almost sorry that we have taken the pains to answer him, except that we have declared our position definitely."

Mr. Remich must feel a good deal like the man who laughed as he thought what wonderful things he was going to do at wrestling with a bull. When it was all over, that man was glad that he had his laugh before the wrestle.

OUR EXCHANGES

A Joint Debate Suggested

Dr. Greene has at last got into the congressional game by joining the Hearst Independence League, and will contest with Cy Sullivan for the honor of representing the first New Hampshire district in Washington. Dr. Greene will take the stump during the canvass and a joint debate between the Mountborno statesman and the tall pine of the Merrimack would add to the gaiety of the campaign, but it will be advisable to devise some method to choke them off before allowing them to turn their vocal batteries of eloquence at each other.—Laconia Democrat.

The Returns are In From Boston

After all, what's the use of asking: "Do the people rule?" (The women rule this country, and they're likely to continue to.—Boston Globe.

Who Treated The Writer of This?

If any friend sends you a bunch of Hamburg grapes these days take it as a gift of the gods. Private grapes are now doing their very prettiest trying to outshine the August vegetable garden, which just at present is on top. A blue ribbon goes daily to the sweet corn, the young squash and the crisp cucumber, and it is none too much to do the occasion honor.—Boston Herald.

THE FOREIGN POPULATION

Ten years ago Portsmouth was practically without foreign population. Now there are about 1100 persons of alien birth in the city. Most of them have come within five years. The estimated number of Italians, mostly settled at the North End, is 500. There are more than 500 Jews in the upper South End. Less than 100 Greeks are here and no French. About 100 Italian laborers are in Kittery, while the water system is being extended, but they will return to Boston and Portsmouth within two weeks.

WHO FOUND THE COAT?

Lost, about two weeks ago on Islington street between Cabot street and the Gale shoe shop a man's gray coat. Reward if returned to the Herald office.

Sunday was an ideal day for an outing and hundreds took advantage of it, and there was big travel out of the city. The electric road did a big business also.

SAW A SAILOR DROWNED
AT THE NAVY YARDA. J. Whittier Thinks It One Of New Hampshire's Crew---His Story

A. J. Whittier, engineer on the submarine drill of Johnson and Verdon working at the navy yard, is confident that the sailor that was reported missing from the battleship New Hampshire before she sailed from this city was drowned the night of Aug. 19 at the navy yard.

Mr. Whittier told the Herald he was sure that he had seen a sailor fall overboard from the railroad bridge on the night in question. According to his story he was on his way back to his boat and while walking across the main bridge between 10 and 11 o'clock he saw a sailor on the railroad bridge and saw him fall overboard. He rushed to the main gate and notified the marine guard and they went out to the railroad bridge with him but when they got there, there was nothing to be seen, the man having sunk.

He claims that the accident was never reported to the yard officers, until he reported it some time after, supposing that the guard on the gate did. Mr. Whittier states that that evening he saw a sailor with a good head of liquor on in Kittery and he thinks that this was the man that went off the bridge.

There were several sailors missing from the battleship when she sailed but it was supposed that they had jumped ship.

RAILROAD ENGINEERS
HOLD ANNUAL OUTINGPass Sunday At Hampton Beach---Special Train From Boston

The annual outing of Division No. 61, International Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers of the Boston and Maine railroad, was held on Sunday at Hampton Beach. The engineers with their families to the number of about three hundred came to Hampton on a special train in charge of Conductor Shapleigh. Here they were met by special electric cars and taken to the beach and the forenoon was passed in bathing and along the sands.

At noon a shore dinner was served at the Casino and the afternoon was passed as the members desired. The return was made late in the afternoon. It was one of the largest attended outings for some time and a most enjoyable one.

FATHER STABBED SON
AT SOUTH BERWICK

A serious stabbing affair took place at the home of George Haddock at South Berwick on the landing about 7:45 Saturday night as the result of a quarrel between him and his son Knuck, aged 22, over the admission of a case of beer which the former had purchased for his consumption over Sunday.

Young Haddock, according to neighbors, objected to his father having the beer, and an altercation ensued in the yard. The younger man was stabbed with a jack-knife in the abdomen, a gash four inches long being inflicted. The father, who is said to have been intoxicated, fled to the New Hampshire side of the river, but later returned and was arrested by Policeman Samfield. He was locked up to await a hearing Monday.

Dr. Ross, who attended the victim, says he will recover if no complications set in.

GUARD STRENGTHENED

Sheriff Collis Takes Precautions Against Any More Jail Deliveries

Sheriff Collis has arranged at the jail so that hereafter there will always be a second man on duty when the turnkey or only one deputy is within the cellrooms, and the man on the outside only will have keys to the doors of the two cages. It has also been necessary to change the locks on the cell doors, the keys to the old locks having been taken away by the escapes. During the first of the chase after Whitney and Burns some of the deputy sheriffs got only three hours' sleep out of each twenty-four hours.

TENT CATERPILLARS

The Pests Are Numerous in the Orchards of This Vicinity

The caterpillars of the tent caterpillars are getting very numerous in the orchards about Portsmouth.

In common with other insect pests, the weather, shortage of birds, or something has made them much more plentiful than for many seasons past. In some orchards every tree is infested and four or five nests may frequently be seen in a single tree. These caterpillars are very destructive, and their abundance is regarded as a serious menace to local orcharding interests.

MRS. J. SHERMAN

IS BRILLIANT WOMAN AND AN IDEAL HOUSEKEEPER.

Washington Home of Republican Candidate for Vice-Presidency and Wife Is the Center of an Intellectual Coterie.

Washington.—Years ago Carrie Babcock was one of the belles of Utica. Today she is the wife of the Republican nominee for vice-president. Congressman James Schieffelin Sherman. In Washington she is known as a brilliant conversationalist and as the possessor of a keen intellect, familiar with all matters of current legislation. Her home, as long as she maintained one here, was the center of a little coterie of brilliant men and women.

In Utica the Shermans have an attractive home in Genesee avenue. The house stands in several acres of ground and Mrs. Sherman has surrounded it with flowers. She has her greenhouses, which protect the flowers in winter, and each time that it has been necessary to leave Utica she has made it a point never to do so until the last flower has been taken in and cared for. Among her intimate friends Mrs. Sherman has the reputation of being an ideal housekeeper. She puts up her own preserves and superintends the details of her marketing.

Mrs. Sherman was born in the town which is now her home. She was the daughter of J. H. Babcock, a prominent lawyer. She attended the Utica seminary and later became a student at Balliol school.

Col. Elakin Sherill of the One Hundred and Twenty-sixth New York Volunteers, to whom a monument was erected at Gettysburg some years ago, was Mrs. Sherman's maternal grandfather. Col. Sherill was shot and killed at Gettysburg. Mrs. Sherman's maternal grandmother was Emily Eldredge, said to have been a direct descendant of Pocahontas.

If Taft and Sherman win next November the Shermans will return to Washington and take a house for the winter. With them will come Mrs. Sherman's mother, Mrs. Babcock, who makes her home with Representative Sherman, and the two sisters of Mrs. Sherman, Mrs. J. C. De Long and Mrs. L. B. Moore, who spend the season here.

The family of Representative and Mrs. Sherman includes three sons, one of whom is married and has a charming little daughter, Ellen. This little girl is the bright particular star of the Sherman home and the idol of her grandparents. Mrs. Sherman has an attractive niece who, if the Republican ticket is elected next fall, will spend a great deal of time in Washington.

The Shermans have been married about 25 years and they have an ideally happy home. Among the women of Washington Mrs. Sherman is particularly popular. She has a charming personality, an able manager and a delightful spirit of hospitality. Her husband is never disengaged.

Last winter Representative and Mrs. Sherman lived at the New Willard and entertained only in the most informal way. Their dinner parties were limited to only a few guests because of the ill health of both Mr. and Mrs. Sherman.

In Bohemia. Thomas A. Day, the Philadelphia poet, responded at a recent breakfast to the toast, "Bohemia." "Bohemia is a pleasant place," said Mr. Day, "but a steady job is better, on the whole. A heavy shower drove me the other day into a favorite Bohemian resort on Fourth street. Bohemians surrounded me, young and old ones. They were drinking beer.

"As the waiter hurried to and fro, I noticed that every little while he would pause before a plate and scrawl something on it. I walked over to the plate and saw a great multitude of queer phrases such as:

"Old Shoes, 5c; Black Underwear, 15c; Fringed Pants, 25c; One Black and One Red Stock, 10c."

"I couldn't resist asking the waiter what all that meant.

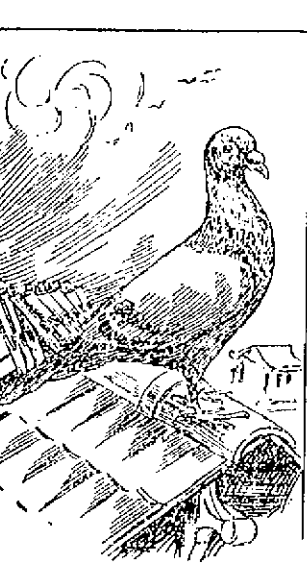

"Well, sir," said he, "I don't know the names of most of these goods; so, when I give 'em tick, I have to take note of some peculiarity of their get-up, sir."

CHINESE PIGEON WHISTLES.

Queer Contrivances by Which Aerial Concerts Are Produced.

Among the curious objects included in the Chinese collection recently obtained for the American Museum of Natural History by Dr. Berthold Laufer are samples of the whistles by means of which music-loving Chinese obtain pleasing melodies from flocks of pigeons whose tails are adorned with the contrivances.

The Chinese lover of birds does not always confine his pets to cages. When he goes for a walk he may take a bird with him, carrying it on a stick, to which one of its feet is fastened by a thread long enough to allow it freedom of motion. Where the shade of a tree invites him to rest he permits the bird to perch on a twig, watching it hour after hour.

Another curious expression of the pleasure Chinese find in pets is the application of whistles to a whole flock of pigeons. These whistles are attached to the tails of young pigeons soon after their birth by means of fine copper wire and when the birds fly the wind blowing through the whistles produces a melodious open-air concert, for the instruments in one flock are all tuned differently. In Pekin, where these instruments are manufactured with great cleverness and ingenuity, it is even possible to enjoy this aerial music while sitting in one's room.

In spite of the seemingly large variety of whistles there are but two distinct types—those consisting of oblong bamboo tubes placed side by side, and those consisting of tubes attached to a gourd body or wind chest. They are lacquered in yellow, brown, red and black. The tube whistles have two or three or else five tubes. In some specimens the five tubes are made of horn instead of bamboo.

As to the materials and implements used in the manufacture of pigeon whistles, there are small gongs that serve for the bodies; halves of large gongs of a particular species imported from Shanghai to Pekin for this special industry, from which stoppers are made that fit into them, and four kinds of bamboo, cylindrical pieces of a large species that grows in the south, for making the mouthpieces of the large tubes; thin sticks for making those of the small ones, hard bamboo for the large tubes themselves, and a soft kind for smaller ones.

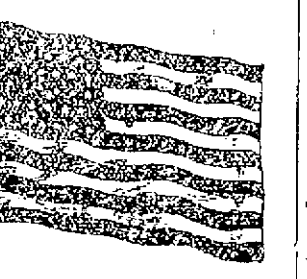

The separate pieces are fastened together by means of fish glue. A razor-like knife is used for splitting the bamboo sticks and a chisel to break the harder pieces. For the general work a dozen saws are required, and awls are used for drilling the small mouthpieces.

Some of the whistles, especially the smaller ones, require much skill in their making. One workman is said to be able to turn out about three specimens a day, which shows the difficulty of the work.

Washington.—All flags made hereafter for the use of the government will contain 46 stars in the field or union to conform in number to the states. The additional star follows the admission of Oklahoma to the family of states, an act of congress in the early part of the nineteenth century requiring that on the admission of a new state one star is to be added to the flag, to take effect on the July 1 next succeeding such admission. Oklahoma came into the union November 16 last.

The 46 stars are to be in six rows; the first, third, fourth and sixth rows to have eight stars, and the second and fifth rows seven stars each. The stars rest on a blue field. A great many American flags now flying from public buildings will have to be altered to meet the new conditions.

DAILY FASHION TALKS

BY MAY MANTON

WITH TRIMMING OF BLACK AND WHITE.

BANDS of striped black and white on color make one of the favorite trimmings of the season and are exceedingly chic in effect. Here is a frock which shows the stripes on a background of pale blue linen and which is as charming as it is simple. It is made in what is known as envelope style, being buttoned together at the under-arm and a m. and is slipped on over the head so that it can be worn over any garment that may be liked. Also it is adapted to ponce and other simple silks and to light weight wools as well as to washable materials and available ones of the latter sort include the thinner lawn and batistes as well as the heavier flannels and cottons. For the cool days of the late summer cashmere, light weight serge and the like are admirable worn over a flange guimpes while they also will serve well for wear in the school room during the autumn term.

For the ten year size will be required, 4 1/2 yards of material 24, 3 1/2 yards 32 or 2 1/2 yards 41 inches wide. A May Manton pattern, No. 6063, sizes 6 to 12 years, will be mailed to any address by the Fashion Department of this paper on receipt of ten cents. (If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage which insures more prompt delivery.)

MRS. BRYAN AT HOME

WIFE OF DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE FOR PRESIDENT.

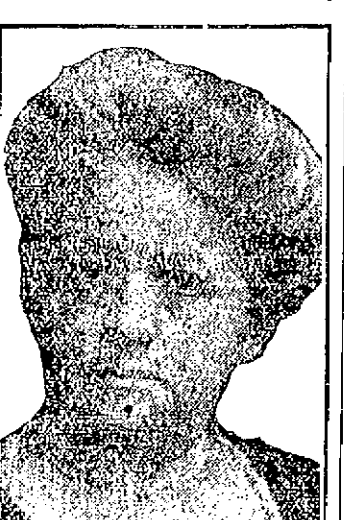

Has Been of Great Help to Famous Nebraska—Has Studied Law and Been Admitted to Bar—Her Home Life.

Lincoln, Neb.—Mrs. Bryan, the wife of William Jennings Bryan, Democratic candidate for president of the United States, shares every confidence, and is on all occasions a most reliable helpmate by her husband's side. The home life of Mr. and Mrs. Bryan truthfully demonstrates the old adage, "The twain are one."

Mrs. Bryan is not only a homemaker, but a home-keeper, and manages the daily routine at Fairview with utmost system. Whatever interruptions are crowded into the day, the household machinery remains unchanged and Mrs. Bryan always maintains a calm exterior.

It always has been Mrs. Bryan's fervent ambition to keep abreast with her husband's intellectual progress. This she has accomplished, and in doing so gives example by precept, for she has studied side by side with Mr. Bryan in every phase of life's problem in which he has at any time been interested. When Mr. Bryan decided upon law as his profession, then it was that he took one step in advance of Mrs. Bryan, but it was not to be long, for when Mrs. Bryan came to Lincoln she immediately began a course of law studies, and after graduating was admitted to practice in all courts of the state. When asked why she studied such a dry, dusty subject as "law," she modestly declared it was just because she did not want Mr. Bryan to become conversant with a subject of which she was ignorant. She said the course was really easy and any woman who has the time could do as she has done.

Mrs. Bryan leads a very active and busy life, but having everything so well systematized, manages to keep ahead of her work. She has for a number of years had entire charge of Mr. Bryan's personal correspondence and has been what he calls his "confidential secretary." Just now Mr. Bryan's official stenographer, who has helped in previous campaigns, is a resident at Fairview, but this does not relieve Mrs. Bryan from looking after Mr. Bryan's private correspondence. She takes up the consideration of the mail immediately after breakfast, which, by the way, is a very early meal for Mrs. Bryan, as she is usually about the house planning various lines of work and settling her duties for the day at five o'clock in the morning.

Mr. Bryan's mail is taken to Mrs. Bryan and she reads his letters to him. Bryan did not attempt to learn any detailed system of shorthand when first undertaking this work, but immediately arranged a contracted system of her own, which she has found to be adequate in every way. About five years ago she began using the typewriter and now has become such a rapid operator she frequently takes dictation direct on the machine.

Mr. Bryan's mail does not comprise all that is received at Fairview, for Mrs. Bryan herself daily receives more letters than any other woman in the land, unless it should be the wife of President Roosevelt. Everybody who has any sort of a question to ask, concludes at once Mrs. Bryan is the proper person to whom to apply.

Mrs. Bryan is an ardent church worker, giving according to her means, and always lending her influence to the worthy organizations where it is most needed. When she moved to Fairview she attended the little church at Normal, but later a mission church was established in South Lincoln and she and her husband moved their connection with the fashionable First church of the city and placed their names on the membership roll of the new organization, known as Westminster church.

Mrs. Bryan is dearly loved by all who serve her, and though often troubled in seeing competent help, she is always able to retain her household servants.

She has a masterful personality, the influence of which is far-reaching. She possesses a large store of tactfulness, which is not assumed, for Mrs. Bryan is always perfectly natural, and one always sees her as she really is. Her manner is cordial, and when conversing her face lights up with a smile which makes her at once seem a friend.

PRIMITIVE IRRIGATION METHODS.

Companies Organized Will Improve System in Old Mexico.

St. Louis.—The new irrigation law which was recently passed by the Mexican congress already has led to the inauguration of a number of irrigation projects in different parts of that country. The fact that the law carries an appropriation of $25,000,000 to be paid in subsidies to those who place land under irrigation, serves as an incentive for the establishment of improvements of this character.

One of the largest of these irrigation enterprises under the new law is being financed by a syndicate of St. Louis men, headed by David R. Francis. His son, David R. Francis, Jr., is actively interested in the project, and has been spending much of his time in Mexico of late. The concession for this enterprise provides for the use of the water of Lake Chapala for irrigating about 500,000 acres of land adjacent to the lake. The government will pay a subsidy of $25 per hectare of 2 1/2 acres on all land placed under irrigation. It is stated that a system of canals and ditches will be built to cover every part of the tract of land that are to be irrigated and that great electric pumping plants will be installed to raise the water out of the lake. The cost of the construction of the system of irrigation will be almost offset by the subsidy.

A number of applications for concessions to establish large irrigation plants under the new subsidy law are pending in the department of fomento of the federal government. Minister Olegario Molina of that department recently signed a contract with Joaquin Redo, a wealthy business man of Mazatlan, for the establishment of a system of irrigation in the valley of the San Lorenzo river in the state of Sinaloa. Mr. Redo binds himself to place 20,000 acres under irrigation within ten years from the date of the contract.

Primitive methods of irrigation are in use in many parts of Mexico. Some of these irrigating plants have been in operation continuously for more than 150 years. The water is raised by means of cumbersome water wheels operated by the native peons. The capacity of the buckets on these wheels is small, but a considerable quantity of water is lifted in the course of a day's operation and several acres may be irrigated from one water wheel. The demand for modern pumping plants has increased very rapidly during the last few years, and it is not unusual to see a gasoline engine at work alongside of one of the antiquated water wheels.

RAILROAD WRECKING
CREW KEPT BUSY

Called to Newburyport and to Dover within a Few Hours

On the arrival of the Boston and Bangor express No. 2 at Newburyport on Sunday morning Engineer Kennard discovered that the truck frame on the forward part of his engine had been crushed and would have caused a serious accident had the train not stopped at that time. It was certainly a lucky escape that the big train passed so safely over the Merrimac river bridge.

Another locomotive was substituted at Newburyport to haul the train to Boston and the Portsmouth wrecking crew was sent over to make necessary repairs in order that the engine could run to Boston.

Immediately on the return of the wrecking train to Portsmouth it was sent out again to Dover, where a freight train had two cars off the rails blocking both inward and outward main line tracks.
